Marble Breach A, Matte, 3200x1600x12mm

Dramatically monochromatic, Marble Breach is a formulation of intense visceral veins which create a stark contrast to the pure expanse of its white base. The slab explores a dynamic colour dichotomy to excite the senses and create divergent emotions of luxury and mysticism. The veining through Marble Breach also possesses a deep authenticity as their arterial-like design seemingly displays three dimensional properties. And, to further explore the authenticity and richness of marble, the veins are intricately outlined in soft pencil-like shading adding depth and dimension to the veining. Marble Breach is the essence of preciousness allowing you to breathe and endow the idea of classicism into your designs. The use of Marble Breach in a contemporary monochrome kitchen would be spectacular or, pair this with soft pink or green tones to balance out the intensity of the slab.

Marble Breach A is available in a matte finish and in slabs of 3200mm x 1600mm x 12mm. Marble Breach is also available in a B version which is a mirror image flipped version of the A, allowing you to book-match the marble veining when using this slab in large spaces.
